CONTACT MANAGEMENT

Do you have the feeling that you are lost in the pile of contact and customer data you have?
Insider will help you to get everything under control.

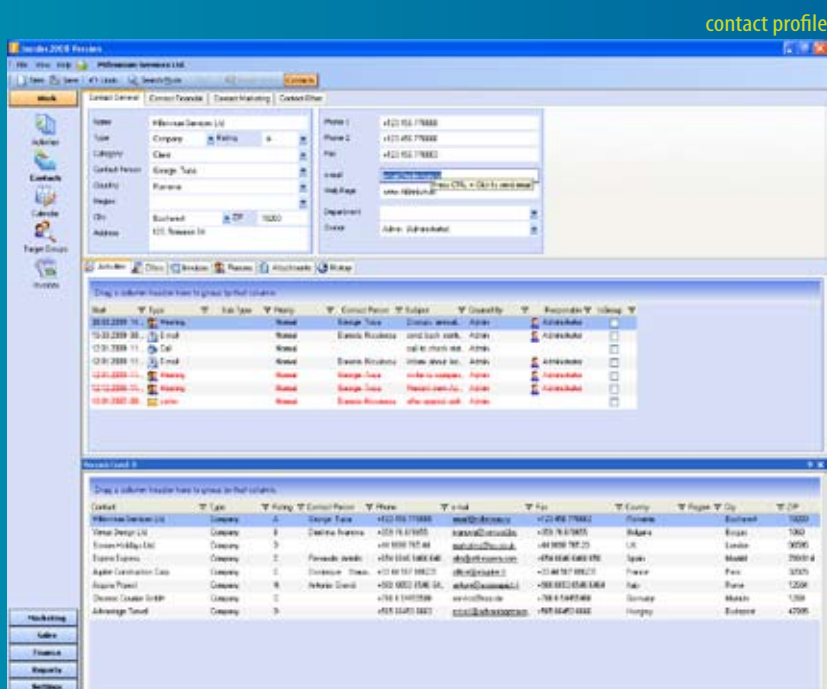

Contact management is the core and most important part of Insider. The system provides a complete customer view with all active contact's data - from initial contact to the post-sales service and support. Data can be found easily and tracked down quickly in a single location.

- Financial information - invoicing data, bank details, credit limits, etc.
- Marketing information - information allowing better and accurate contact targeting: business area, source lead, number of employees, notes, etc.
- Additional information – user specific data fields
- Activities – lists all tasks, calls and meetings for the active contact. Here users can create new activities and apply different filters to the existing ones
- Offers – displays all offers sent to the active contact, their chances, status and result
- Invoices – information about all invoices and payments for the active contact

- Employees – lists all people associated with the active contact with their names, positions and contact information
